Vayechi - יחי

January 11, 2020—14 Tevet, 5780

This is the last portion in Bereshit, the Book of Genesis. Last week's Parasha described how Jacob and his entire family, because of the famine, went down to Egypt at Joseph and Pharaoh's invitation. This week, we learn that Jacob lived his final 17 years in Egypt. Before dying he made his son Joseph promise him by oath that he will be buried in Canaan, in the Cave of Machpela, where Abraham and Isaac are buried.

Jacob blesses Joseph's sons Manasseh and Ephraim. He recognizes their great qualities and gives them the great honor that, in the future, parents will pray to God to make them like Ephraim and Manasseh. Jacob then calls all his children and blesses his 12 sons, mentioning their strengths and failings. When Jacob dies there is a huge funeral procession involving his entire family and many Egyptians as they accompany Jacob to his resting place in Canaan.

The Torah reading ends with Joseph telling his brothers not to feel bad for selling him as a slave since this was God's plan for him to be in Egypt to save humanity during the years of famine. He also asks his brothers that, when the time comes for them to leave Egypt and go to the Promised Land, that they should take his remains with them and bury him in the Promised Land.

On This Day: 7 Tevet

Yahrtzeit of Pinchas Rutenberg (1879-1942), founder of the Israel Electric Corporation. A Russian Jewish immigrant, Rutenberg was a visionary and pioneer, whose efforts to bring electricity to Israel is regarded as a crucial factor in building a strong modern economy. Rutenberg's flagship project was a hydroelectric plant on the Jordan River in 1931, which he built after gaining Winston Churchill's political backing and Baron Edmond de Rothschild's financial support. In 1948, the plant was destroyed by the Arab Legion
